BEST NEWCOMER OF THE YEAR

This award recognises rising stars – journalists with three years or less experience – who have never submitted before but are already showing exceptional promise in property journalism. Entrants must submit a body of outstanding work (not more than three stories, including proof of publication/broadcast) together with a strong motivation showing commitment to the vocation of news well above the norm – this motivation is a critical component of the judging process. The work must be related to the subject of real estate and/or the built environment. This category may only be entered once.
